Newsletter 12: 27th July 2022

Kia Ora e te whānau

Welcome back for Term Three and a term about all things weird and wonderful!

The students will be 'thinking like scientists' as they investigate, observe, and find out about all the amazing living things that call Aotearoa/New Zealand home. Last year when we thought like scientists, we explored astronomy with planet earth and beyond; the year before, we explored potions and reactions. As we build on our understanding of what it is to think like a scientist, we now explore how scientists identify and observe things in the living world. Already this week, some students have found a huge patch of fungi living in the school, which has enabled some wonderful questions and wonderings.

The deep understanding of this Inquiry is that 'Aotearoa is home to living wonders.' The children will be developing their knowledge of the key concepts of evolution, adaptation, diversity, change and survival. Children might be finding out what lives in our school, researching living things and how they have evolved over time, developing an understanding of why Aotearoa has so many unique endemic species and the tools that scientists use to find out about living things.

A key outcome of this Inquiry is students working out how they can make a positive change to help living things either in our school or in the wider community. This may take many forms, depending on what the children are passionate about, but an example might be planting trees to encourage more bird life or creating spaces for more bugs and lizards to live in our school.

In addition to the highly personalised programmes our teachers run focused around the literacy and math goals we set in our term two learning conferences; we have some school-wide foci that link to our Inquiry. In literacy, it's likely that children will be putting their skills into action by recording scientific investigations and sharing their findings in writing non-fiction reports and recounts, as well as reading for information to help them develop their scientific understanding. In Math, children will have a chance to apply their number knowledge to real-life measurement and statistical explorations.

If you have any expertise or experience in this area and would like to help us this term, we would love to hear from you! Please email annas@parnell.school.nz.

Opportunities For Excellence

Opportunities for excellence, often referred to as OE, begins next week! The focus for OE is on giving every student the chance to further develop their expertise in an area of excellence and work with other learners who excel in the same things. From academics, sports, culture and the arts, all aspects of the curriculum are available to our students as we dive into our areas of expertise. We'll be showing off all the hard work we've done when we invite families in term 4. In the meantime, make sure you talk with your child about which OE they're in (they'll find out on Monday 1st August) and what the focus of learning will be!

RED NOSE DAY THIS FRIDAY

The amazing team at Cure Kids work hard all year round to support children and young people in the research into child illnesses. We have the chance to support them this Friday on Red Nose Day! Red noses will be available for sale on Thursday afternoon and Friday before school. Stocks are limited, so if you want a red nose, I suggest you get in first on Thursday afternoon. On Friday, children can donate to Cure Kids and wear red to support their amazing work.

Accessing Tax Receipts

For those of you wanting to access your tax receipts, this can be done quickly through the parent eTAP portal at www.atschool.co.nz and then entering your username and password. Then all you have to do is click on the "My Child" tab and then "Tax Receipts" at the bottom. This function is updated automatically when you make a payment, so there is no need to wait for a specific date or time. The receipt will auto-generate when payment is processed in eTAP by the school. If you need your password etc., emailed to you, please just email office@parnell.school.nz, and we will be happy to send this out to you.
